WOUNDS, BRUISES AND BURNS.

By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and like injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is antiseptic and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and sorness and prevents any danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale by all druggists.

SUNDAY SERVICES IN TABERNACLE

Two Mission Presidents Occupied the Time in Delivery of Interesting Discourses.

THE CHOIR AT ITS BEST.

Displays Increased Enthusiasm and Spirit Since Visit of the First Presidency.

The services at the tabernacle yesterday afternoon drew an unusually large congregation, many persons present being strangers in the city. The discourses delivered and the musical program were very interesting and were much appreciated by the people in attendance. Two mission presidents, namely, Elder Joseph E. Robinson of the California mission, and Elder Ben E. Rich, who for a long time has presided in the southern states were the speakers, and both quoted extensively from the Bible in support of principles believed in by the Latter-day Saints. Two anthems and two favorite hymns were the offerings of the choir, which seems to have received a new impetus since the visit to that body during the week of the first presidency. The choir has seldom sung better, as a whole, than it did yesterday, the selections be-ing "Jesus Once of Humble Birth," "Let the mountains shout for joy," "O my Father" and "Rouse, oh, ye mor-tals." The invocation was offered by Elder George R. Emery of the Sait Lake stake, and President Joseph F. Smith pronounced the benediction.

ELDER ROBINSON.

Elder Robinson said that the gospel of Jesus Christ is the hope of the individual, of the family and of the commonwealth, and if lived up to would prove to be a remedy for all the ills to which mortals are heir. Upon two commandments hang the law and the prophets, the first of which is "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all prophets, the first of which is "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind," and the other is "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself." If these admonitions were adhered to there would be no wrong existing between man and man, while unity and great will would prevail or unity and good will would prevail ev-

To strangers, the temples of the Latter-day Saints appear to be places of mystery, said the speaker, but there is nothing strange or uncommon connected with the work performed therein. The belief of the Christian world in general is that a belief in the Redeem-er of the world is all that is necessary er of the world is all that is necessary to obtain salvation, no reckoning be-ing made of judgment for deeds done in the flesh. The story of the thlef on the cross was rehearsed by Elder Rob-inson, and the fallacy of the notion that he went directly into the presence of God, without having heard or ren-dered obedience to the requirements dered obedience to the requirements of the gospel, was pointed out. The visit of the Savior to the spirit world, visit of the Savior to the spirit world, to bring deliverance to souls that were bound in the coils of sin, was lucidly explained, and the speaker's argument was well fortified by numerous passages of Scripture, both from the Old and from the New Testament.

The doctrine of vicarious work by the living for the redemption of departed kindred and friends is one of the most beautiful and comforting principles contained in the gospel of the Son of God.

tained in the gospel of the Son of God, declared Elder Robinson, Justice and mercy demand that each soul that has lived in mortality should have the privilege of hearing in life or in death, the glad tidings of joy that shall bring deliverance from the bondage of sin. Mormonism holds out hope to all the sons and daughters of Adam, and to all who obey the gospel there comes a spirit of equanimity and peace of soul that is worth all the struggle and sac-rifice that anyone could possibly be called upon to make.

ELDER RICH.

Elder Ben E. Rich read the words of the hymn that had just been rendered by the choir, "O My Father," and said that they contained principles of eternal truth. Therein is taught the doctrine that men lived before they came to earth, and that the purpose of their so-fourning in mortality is fourning in mortality is that they might be as children at school and gain experience that shall be for their everlasting benefit when they return to the place from whence they came. The station and reward of each soul who stands, before the bar of furtice whell be to each before the bar of justice shall be in ac-cordance with his merits. There is but one name given under heaven whereby man may be saved from his sins, and the name is that of Jesus Christ, the Son of the living God. It is not sufficient that men profess with their lips a belief in the Master, but they must do a belief in the Master, but they must do the will of God who sent His Son to cleanse the earth and its inhabitants from sin. Jesus answered fully and completely the question, What must needs be done to obtain salvation? It is nothing short of strict obedience to all the commands of the Father. Upon that platform the Latter-day Saints stand, and they will not decart from! stand, and they will not depart from it.

The plan of salvation as laid down by the Savior has been perverted by man, said Elder Rich. The doctrine of one Lord, one faith and one baptism no longer holds good in the Christian world. Two differing sects produce world. Two differing sects produce disunion, and when this condition is multiplied by hundreds, confusion and contention reign. The speaker quoted from the Old and the New Testatements to prove that in the latter days a church should be established and a kingdom set up never more to be overcome. In fulfillment of those prophecies 3 servant of the Lord had been cies a servant of the Lord had been raised up in the last days, and the Gospel as taught by Jesus and His apostles had been restored to earth. That man was Joseph Smith the

The gospel holds out a hope beyond the grave, the speaker said, and he would not care for a religion that taught otherwise. Hundreds of millions of human beings have lived and died, without having had a privilege of hearing the name whereby salvation comes, and a religion could not possi-bly be divine that did not reach to all such; to judge a person for something he knows not of would be unjust, and such a characteristic cannot be attributed to the loving and merciful Creator of heaven and earth. The good deeds of men will not go unrewarded when final judgment comes, and the doers of good, although they may not obey the gospel in the flesh, shall not be eter-nally cast out. The speaker said that nally cast out. The speaker said that he did not believe in a great big heaven and a great big hell, but believed that men would be judged according to deeds done in the flesh.

"The idea that beings created by God and fashioned in His image will be roasted for billions of years, at the end of which time breakfast time has not arrived, merely because they died in unbelief of some one or some thing of which they had never heard, is pre-posterous," declared Elder Rich, "and I don't blame such men as Robert G. Ingersoll for failing ard refusing to be-love in such a God". Christ, never Ingersoll for failing and refusing to believe in such a God." Christ never taught such a doctrine, but He did teach that in the day of judgment, men will be judged for the deeds done in the body, and if they had no opportunity in mortal life to hear and obey the gospel message, the privilege would be extended to them in the eternal worlds.

END CAME PEACEFULLY.

The end came peacefully, with his daughter, Mrs. D. R. Gray, and her husband, at his bedside. He will be much missed in this city, where for so many years his tall form was so impressive a figure on these streets, and he had made so many friends by his genial, courtly ways that the mourners are many and genuine.

Thomas Marshall was born in Walnut Grove, Mason county, Ky., Aug. 25.

Grove, Mason county, Ky., Aug. 25, 1834. While but a mere boy, he evidenced a strong affinity for the classic tongues, which he studied with his uncle, Dr. Louis Marshall in Woodford county, Ky. Later he attended Ken-yon college, in Ohio, but left at the end of junior year, to return to Kentucky, where he held a clerical position in the office of the Mason county clerk, and office of the Mason county clerk, and at the same time read law. From there Thomas Marshall went to St. Louis, where he entered the law office of Leslie, Williams & Barrett, but afterwards went back to Kentucky and studied under Judge T. A. Marshall. In 1855 he returned to St. Louis and formed legal connections, and where he hecame a partner. became a partner.

ARRIVAL IN SALT LAKE.

ARRIVAL IN SALT LAKE.

Mr. Marshall had only recently lost a fortune in speculation, and the western fever took possession of him in hopes of recouping himself in the growing west. So he removed to Butte, Mont., in 1856, but did not like it there, and came down to Salt Lake City, and in 1872 was admitted to the bar of the United States supreme court. In the same year, the law firm of Marshall & Royle was established, a firm that became very well known all through the west for its abilities in mining, commercial and corknown all through the west for its ablities in mining, commercial and corporation law. Judge Marshall became attorney for the Overland Route between Ogden and the Pacific coast, and later was retained by the Wells-Farge Express company and the Southern Pacific. At the time of his death he was a director in the Central Pacific railroad. He was a prominent member of the Yor Rite of Masons and belonged to the chapter here. The deceased was one of the recognized authorities on min-ing law, while his knowledge of hising law, while his knowledge of history, political economy, philosophy, the sciences and languages was unusual, and he had a keen analytical mind.

MARRIED IN MISSOURI.

Judge Marshall was married Nov. 27, 855, to a daughter of Congressman James M. Hughes of Missouri, and they had one child, a daughter, Mrs. D. R. Gray, wife of the representative here Gray, wife of the representative here of the Harriman roads. The deceased was a man of striking figure, as he was about 6 feet 4 inches tall. He was a forcible speaker, a fine tall. He was a forcible speaker, a fine conversationalist, and he always made good impression on strangers.

"Two years ago our little girl had a touch of pneumonia, which left her with an awful cough. She had spells of coughing, just like one with the whooping cough and some thought she would not get well at all. We got a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, which acted like a charm. ## ATTEMPT TO ROB TUTTLE BROS., 153 Main Street. Investment Bankers, Established 1871.

Oscar Ellmore Defended His Property by Shooting Down Alleged Thug.

PROVED FATAL

DEAD MAN IS IDENTIFIED.

Tragedy Occurred in a Grocery Store On Saturday Night-Terrific Struggle for Possession of Weapon.

An attempt, on the part of a stranger named John Gardner, to rob Oscar Ellmore in the latter's grocery store, 195 west Third South street, shortly after 10 o'clock on Saturday night, proved fatal for Gardner, and the man's body is now occupying a slab in the morgue. Gardner came here from Ordway, Col. At about the time mentioned on Sar.

urday night, Ellmore noticed a stranger walking up and down in front of the store. Some customers were in the place at the time, but just as soon as they left, the stranger entered and asked to be served with some crackers and cheese. As Ellmore turned to serve the man, the latter said: "I don't want your crackers, but I want your money." Ellmore immediately seized a revolver which was behind the counter and said: "Well, you won't get my money." The would-be robber started for Ellmore, and the latter struck the stranger over the arm with the gun. The stranger made a grab for the weapon, and Ellmore fired a for the weapon, and Elimore fired a shot over his head.

The stranger succeeded in getting hold of the storekeeper and the pair engaged in a terrific struggle for possession of the weapon. Both men were in a narrow space and fought were in a narrow space and fought desperately. Boxes, cans and packages were overturned and scattered about the place. Finally, Ellmore secured the gun and fired again at the robber. The shot took effect, the bullet penetrating the stranger's heart. With a groan the man sank to the floor saying, "I am a dead man."

The police department was quickly notified by telephone, and Detective Rhodes hurried with all possible speed to the scene. The detective found the dead man behind the counter and Ellmore standing near the body. Ellmore more standing near the body. Ellmore told the officer the story as related above, but owing to the fact that the stranger wore no mask and was unarmed, the officer decided to take Ell-more to the station.

The body of the dead man was taken to O'Donnell's undertaking parlor. Justice Dana T. Smith was notified as also were Chief Sheets and Captain Burbidge, who were soon on the scene.

Ellmore declared that, when the stranger demanded money he also made a motion as if he was going to draw a gun. Elimore then struck the man a motion as if he was going to draw a gun. Elimore then struck the man on the arm and the struggle followed. Elimore was greatly excited, but his story was told in a perfectly straight forward manner and there is no doubt that his version of the affair is correct. The identity of the dead man was established yesterday by John Welsh, John Redfield and C. A. Scott, who came with Gardner from Colorado. The men had all been employed at Rocky Ford gathering cantaloupes. They came here two weeks ago. All of the men secured employment here with the exception of Gardner.

Welsh says that he saw Gardner at the American house on Commercial street Saturday evening and that Gardner changed his coat and hat and then went out.

O'Donnell's by Drs. Whitney derwood. Ellmore will be reheld at and Calderwood. Elimore will be re-leased at the conclusion of the same. It is likely that an inquest will be held by Justice Dana T. Smith. Ef-forts are being made to locate the dead man's relatives.
